Dear Prof. Arsana,

I hope this finds you in a very good condition.

My name is Andi from Indonesia. I have just graduated from the Department of Geodetic Engineering, Universitas Gadjah Mada, with interest in Geographic Information System. I graduated with cum laude, with a GPA of 3.78

Since the first year of my study, I have been very active in research and competition, and I also have won a number of prestigious competition nationally and internationally. In my undergraduate thesis, I discuss issues on continental shelf. I have been interested in the issue of continental shelf since I read a paper when I was in the second year. Now, I am thinking of pursuing a master degree with this topic.

I hope you can be my supervisor for my study. Thank you very much for your kind attention and I am looking forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours,
Andi.

Dear Prof. Arsana,

I hope this finds you well.

I am Andi from Indonesia, a lecturer at the Department of Geodetic Engineering, Universitas Gadjah Mada.

I have read your paper concerning Australia's extended continental shelf published in latest Marine Geodesy. Thank you for writing the paper. It is very helpful for me to understand the technicality of the continental shelf beyond 200 M from baselines. I particularly like the way you explain article 76 of UNCLOS through simple, yet effective illustrations.

I have a question to ask about Australia's extended continental shelf in the Antarctic. From the map in your paper, I understand that the part has been delineated. However, it is not part of the official submission to the UN. Could you please elaborate more about this?

I am interested in the issue of continental shelf and thinking of pursuing a PhD degree with this topic. I hope you can shed a light on this issue. Thank you very much for your kind attention and I am looking forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours,

Andi.
